LITIGATION CAUSED BY A MISSING CHECK

The suit of the California National Bank of Sacramento against T. J. Weldon occupied the superior court several days last week and was tried before a jury. The suit was for $2000 and interest and the jury returned a verdict for the full amount asked and for interest at 7 per cent which amounted to about $250.

The suit was the outgrowth of a lost check on the Commercial Bank which was sent by T. J. Weldon to J. B. Melton at Klammath Falls some time in September, 1907. Melton cashed the check at the Klammath County bank and it was sent by them to the California National Bank of Sacramento and, with a couple of other checks, one belonging to Attorney C. M. Mannon and another to Major W. W. Cunningham, both on the Savings Bank, were sent by the Sacramento bank to the Bank of Ukiah for collection.

In some way the checks were lost in the mail between this city and Sacramento. The two other checks were for small amounts and duplicates were issued for them immediately. The Sacramento bank, however, had made an error in its record of the checks and the Weldon check appeared as having been drawn by F. H. Sheldon. It took a couple of months before the Sacramento bank traced the check down and found that it was T. J. Weldon's instead of F. H. Sheldon's. They then asked for a duplicate check or the money and tendered an indemnity bond for the amount of the check.

Weldon refused to issue a duplicate or pay over the money on the ground that the check might turn up some day and he might have to pay it again. The matter was finally brought to suit with the result as above stated, Mr. Weldon will appeal it is understood.

Mannon & Mannon represented the Sacremento Bank and W D L Held appeared for T J Weldon.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR PASSENGER TRAINS

The winter schedule on the Northwestern Pacific railroad went into affect Monday, November 15th and, as a result, several persons who expected to leave for San Francisco in the morning missed the train and were compelled to wait until noon. The morning south-bound train leaves at 5:50 now, and the north-bound train arrives at Ukiah at 12:30. The afternoon train arrives from Willits at 1:30 and departs for San Francisco at 1,35 and the evening train from San Francisco arrives at Ukiah at 7:55. The north-bound train arrives at Willits at 1:55 and departs for Sherwood at 2:30, arriving at that place at 3:45. The stages of the Overland Stage company connect with the trains at Sherwood and passengers and mail are taken on north. This is the regular schedule that has been used by this road for several years and has proven to be most convenient for the passengers as well as the railroad company during the winter months.

SEA GULLS VISIT UKIAH

Picking must be pretty scarce on the coast or else it is rumored there town, that the tamale season is on here. Last Wednesday morning when Night Watchman Beatty was making his usual rounds he espied a fine flock of gulls on the lawn in front of the court house. They spent several hours in town, finally winging their way toward Mendocino. Some of the boys suggested that the birds might have been thirsty and come to the interior for a drink. However they concluded to go back to the dry town.

ICE TWO INCHES THICK

Ice two inches thick this early in November is rather unusual, but it remained in the street all day Tuesday in front of the Cecille. Of course, it fell out of Ice Man Apfels wagon, but it was there just the same.

A Good Cigar

Is made of long-book Havana filler, carefully selected for mildness and pleasing aroma, and wrapped in a superior grade of Sumatra. This is what you will find when you buy The Fisher for 10 cents, or a King Fisher for 12 1-2 cents. We could write about them all day but you could not appreciate their excellent qualities until you had smoked one. They are made in Ukiah and are smoked by the leading men of our city. Try one and you will always call for a Fisher. Manufactured by The Ukiah Cigar Factory, George Fisher, propietor. Phone Main 1383. Residence and factory, 531 ıth State street.

THE GRAND JURY CONCLUDES LABORS

We, the grand jury empaneled Dec. 21, 1908, submit the following report to which is attached the report of the expert appointed by this body to examine the official acts and records of the county officers and board of supervisors.

We have met at different times during the year and have examined conditions of the county officers and county farm.

We find that the board of supervisors, acting on our recommendation embodied in our report filed with the court June 23d, have let the contract, and have the lumber on the ground for the erection of a building 80 x 40 to contain a new kitchen and dining room and will also at once make all necessary repairs on the building. The patients seem to be well satisfied with the quantity of feed, and have no complaints, and we find the management is much improved at this time.

We also find that the grounds surrounding the court house are well kept, new electric lights and poles have been installed, adding greatly to the good appearance of the court house square.

We also reccommend that the appointing of an expert to examine the county books each year, be done by the grand jury in order to save the expense of the books being experted twice in one year.

We find that it is the custom of all the county officers with the exception of the superintendent of schools, to cash warrants for other parties. We reccommend that this system be discontinued, as it is in violation of law.

We also reccommend that the board of supervisors instruct the district attorney to take steps to prevent the sale of liquor in precincts that have been declared dry.

We have investigated the charges against the supervisor of the second district, of using county money for clearing his land of rock and stones, when the same could have been procured at much cheaper expense at other places on the public highway. Upon investigation we find that Mr. C. P. Smith not only donated his team free of charge to the district but paid moneys out of his own pocket for a portion of the work, which, in the aggregate, amounted to nearly $200, and as this work of testing crushed rock on our roads is in its experimental stage we consider the district fortunate in having such a public spirited supervisor and commend the work that he has done.

Respectfully submitted,
J. H. Barker, Foreman,
R. L. Hutchison, Secretary.

The report of Expert Dougherty who experted the county's books for the jury consists of 73 typewritten pages. His report shows that the county has a very efficient set of officials and keep their books free from mistakes.

BILLION FEET OF REDWOOD BOUGHT

One of the largest purchases of redwood ever made in Mendocino county, has recently been consumated. The Standish-Hickey Timber company has just purchased the entire holdings of the Consolidated Redwood company, being over one billion feet of redwood.

The timber is situated in Mendocino county and mixed through the present holdings of the Standish-Hickey Timber company. It was owned by local and outside capital. It is not known just what disposition they will make of it. They and their associates were at one time owners of the Albion Lumber company, a very large operating plant in the redwood belt, and they have been buying very heavily through the redwood section both in Humboldt and Mendocino counties. It is reported that they are contemplating a system of logging roads through their holdings to manufacture the material. All parties seem pleased with the sale.

LIKES MENDOCINO COUNTY

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hildreth returned Saturday from a months visit in San Francisco, Los Angeles and the southern portion of the state. They report a fine trip and Bill, who is in the real estate business and somewhat of a judge of farm land from actual experience, reports that he would not trade Mendocino county for all the rest of the state that he has seen. He says that Mendacino county has better land, and a better climate and that the land is vastly cheaper in proportion not having been boosted to fabulous prices by booms.

Newsy Notes From Press Correspondents

Willits, Nov. 17—Last week was observed as penny-week by the Methodist Aid Society, which tried to see how many yards of pennies they could collect. They also held an apron bazaar Saturday afternoon in Odd Fellows' hall and gave an interesting entertainment in the evening to a large audience. The affair was for the purpose of raising money to help in the financial part of the new Methodist church which is fast nearing completion. They netted about sixty dollars, this is considered very good, considering the number of entertainments which are given here.

On Friday evening the Baptist Young Peoples' Society gave an entertainment and play: "The Parson's Donation Party," which was very amusing. The entertainment was well attended and the characters were well acted.

Duane Bittenbender of Northwestern and Miss Pomeroy of Newcastle, Nebraska were united in marriage last Sunday by Rev. B. B, Conner. Duane's many friends wish him a long and a happy life on his matrimonial voyage, and hope his only cares may be "little ones."

A local committee has secured the Midland Lyceum course of entertainments to be given here again this winter. This will make the third season these entertainments have been given here. Those, which have been given, were of a high-class of entertainments, consisting of lectures, readings and musical numbers. The local committee, of which Con. H. Goldberg is business manager, is to be congratulated for their enterprise in securing this course. It seems that people now-a-days, must have some diversion; then let it be of a high and pure kind instead of patronizing every cheap show that comes to town. The first number of the Lyceum course will be given next Monday night when "The Midland Jubilee Singers" will appear with their Southern melodies and plantation songs.

Since the clearing up of the rain storm, which we reported last week, there has been cold frosty nights but warm during the day.

Chas. Wade has moved his family from Muir's mill to his home in town. He expects to go to Sacramento plains to find work for his teams during the winter.

Mrs. Orr of Calpella was a Willits visitor last Sunday

Point Arena, Nov. 18—Several heavy earthquakes have been felt in this vicinity during the last week. One last Monday night was quite severe, while one today at 2:30 was hard enough for almost anybody.

The community in general was shocked last Wednesday to hear of the death of Willie Harlan which occurred in Eureka. Willie had lived in Point Arena for over two years and moved to Eureka with his mother in July. He was a member of the Sunshine Club and was a general favorite with all. Deepest sympathies are felt for the bereaved family, especially the father who has been separated from his son and who was not able to reach Eureka before the burial.

A son was born to the wife of Clifton Peters last Monday. Mother and son are doing well, and the opinion of the local phsicians are that Peters will survive the shock.

Hans Christiansen has returned from a trip to the city.

Jack Clark and wife are home from an extended trip to relatives and friends in the valleys.

The steamer Phoenix is at the wharf loading ties and posts.

Mrs. Geo. Burke of Manchester was a visitor in town today. Mr. and Mrs. Burke have moved from the Stuart place into the Umphray property at Manchester.

Mrs. John Thurman is reported to be quite ill at her home.

Superintendent Babcock is in town; an event which sets the hearts of the younger generation all aflutter. Every scholar wants to make a good showing when the superintendent is visiting school.

Mrs. Walter White and sister, Miss Elza, were incoming passengers on the boat last Thursday.

Mrs. Joe Antrim is in Point Arena. Joe will follow suit and they will reside here permanently.

Mrs. Walter Storer who has been visiting in town returned to her home at the Garcia Flat this evening.

Work has begun on the erection of the new creamery. The dairy men are certainly glad to know that they will not have to haul their milk so far. XXX

Wendling, Nov. 11. — Just a word from the city between the two pinacles. Rain has been falling for the past week or so and has put the farmes behind with their work, although it has done coniderable good for the stock men by starting the grass on their ranges.

Sunday was a fine day and seems to have made everyone think of spring, as our little city was crowded and it was one of the busiest days we have had for some time.

Alex Johnson of Mendocino gave a moving picture show here Saturday night which was well attended. After the performance a social dance was given and about twenty couple stayed to the dance. There was such a crowd and everyone seemed to enjoy the entertainment so much that Mr. Johnson has decided to give a show here every Saturday and Sunday nights in the future. Undoubtedly he will have a large and attentive audience at each performance.

Extensive improvements are to be made here next spring and Wendling will come to the front with a fine base ball diamond and a tennis and basket ball ground. We are are also to have a good park at North Fork, which will probably be appropriately called "Lovers' Lane."

We are pleased to report that D. Ralph has recovered from his severe sick spell and will be able to go to work again in a short time.

Chester Estell left Sunday for his home in Boonville where he will visit for a few days when he will go to San Francisco to attend school. John Suise took Estell's place in the butcher shop.

Nick Nickander took Chester Estell to Boonville Sunday and got lost on his way home, but later was found at the moving picture show with several of the fair sex.

Bert Bates visited friends in Boonville Sunday.

Dr. Kilburn, the popular Wendling dentist, left the first of the week for home at Monterey where he will spend to holidays with relatives.

Jack Bothwell met with a painful accident Sunday. While carrying a stove he fell and dislocated his shoulder, but is under the care of Dr. Shroeder who has hope for his speedy recovery. W

FALLS THIRTY FEET BREAKS BOTH LEGS

Tom Armstrong had the misfortune to fall from the second story of Gene Parrs' house in Hopland, Monday, and break both legs. He was brought here for medical attention and Dr. Liftchild reports that while his injuries are of a serious nature that he believes that he will pull through all right. He fell about thirty feet and was lucky to escape with his life.

WEATHER REPORT

The report handed in by Dr George McCowen shows that the rainfall for the week has been .19 inch. The rainfall for the month has been 1.56 inches making a total for the season of 4.45 inches. The maximum temperature was 63 degrees and the minimum temperature 26 degrees.

CHRISTMAS NUMBER FOR PRESS READERS

On the 17th of December the Press will issue a special Christmas edition. A beautiful lithographed cover in colors has been secured for this edition. In addition to the usual eight pages of reading matter there will be four pages of Christmas stories and other interesting reading matter. Considerable advertising space has already been taken in this edition by the merchants of the town and as the time is approaching those who desire to be represented will do well to speak early.

The Christmas editions issued in the past by the Press have been a success from every standpoint and the present one will be no exception. It will be issued early enough in the month so that the advertisements will reach the Christmas shoppers in plenty of time to aid them in making their selections.

JUDGE CROCKETT'S FOUR SCORE YEARS

Last Friday was the eightieth birthday of David C. Crockett and on Sunday the event was observed by a birthday dinner at the residence of his daughter Mrs. C. P. Smith. All of the members of the family living in the vicinity of Ukiah were present and four generations were represented at the dinner, D. C. Crockett was born in Tennessee November 12, 1829, and lived there until he was about eight years of age, when he moved with his parents to Missouri where he received his education. In 1850 he crossed the plains and came to California where he at once engaged in mining.

On September 15th, 1852, he left San Francisco for Missouri where he was married to Miss Ester M. Snyder on Christmas day 1853. In 1857 he and his family returned to California and came immediately to Ukiah, then a part of Sonoma county. He engaged in farming and stock raising several miles below town for two years, and then moved to Ukiah and engaged in the hotel business which he followed for four years. In 1867 he was elected sheriff of this county and was reelected at the next election, serving four years in all. He has been justice of the peace in the Ukiah township for seven years, during which time he has lived on his place in the western part of town.

Judge Crockett has been a resident of Ukiah since 1865 and has always been one of the first to assist in any plan for the improvement of the town or the good of the community. There are only a few of the old citizens left that were here to share the hardships of 52 years ago, and it is through their hard work and skillful management that the people of today are enabled to enjoy these peaceable and quiet times. Judge Crockett has the distinction of being a nephew of the famous Davy Crockett, but his popularity comes not from his ancestory, but on account of his own admirable traits. It is the hope of his many friends that he may safely pass the century mark.

TO AID ORPHAN BOYS

An entertainment for the benefit of the Albertinum will be given by the boys of the Institution on Saturday, Nov, 27, at 2 p. m. at Cleland's hall. In connection with the entertainment there will be a Fancy Bazaar, where the friends of orphan boys will be afforded a good opportunity of purchasing their Christmas presents. The members of the Ladies' League who are interested in the charitoble work done by the sisters, will conduct an "Exchange" and hope to be patronized by the people of Ukiah. There will be a concert in the evening, and refreshments served. All are kindly invited to attend. 22-2t

LOCAL TALENT PLAY IS WELL RECEIVED

The production of Charlie's Aunt by local talent under the direction of Auditor and Mrs. C. W. Mathews at Cleland's hall last Friday night was a very agreeable surprise to theatre goers. The play was popular from the start and when the curtain rose at 8:30 sharp, one of the largest audiences that ever filled the hall greeted the players. Everyone was good natured and applause and flowers were showered on the players liberally.

The play was given for the benefit of the Presbyterian church and it is reported that a very tidy sum was netted which will be used to pay off the debt on the church. After the performance all who took part were invited to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John L. McNab where a bounteous supper was served, and those who helped make the occasion a success by the donation of their talent were warmly thanked in behalf of the congregation.

The music was rendered by Simpson's orchestra and was greatly appreciated. The specialties were particularly good and each one was enchored again and again. Those who took part in the play performed their parts so well that it would be impossible to single them out for personal mention. It can be said however that Mr. Willcox as Charlie's Aunt was simply great. The scenery which had been remodeled under the direction of Auditor Mathews also received much favorable comment and added greatly to the effect of the production.

POPULAR OFFICER WILL RETIRE SOON

Col. Abe Marks, at his own request, is soon to be placed on the retired list of the Uniform Rank K. of P, The Col. has been an active mtmber, and for the past eleven years has been prominent in the official circles of the order. He was the second captain chosen for Schaffner company and seven years years ago when the Fifth Regiment was formed was appointed to its colonelcy, which position he has since held. While the Col. is still an enthusiastic Knight, his growing business is demanding so much of his attention that he feels that he will not be able to spare the time that he should to the order, and considering his years of faithful service has decided to allow someone else to take up the active work.

Colonel Marks has made an efficient and popular officer and his retirement will be regretted in the lodge circles. The military training which he received in the militia made him an ideal commander and he is popular with the rank and file alike. During his command the fifth has held two successful encampments and has grown in strength both numerically and financially. His announcement came as quite a surprise to the boys and caused regret but they all recognize that he has earned the right to rest.

ACCIDENT TO ASYLUM BRIDGE

One of the stirrups broke near the center of the Asylum bridge last week and let one of the needle beams down. The bridge was laid up for a few days as unsafe for travel but Sam Orr and a crew of men have now got it in as good shape as ever. If the accident had happened during the high water of the winter season the bridge would have probably been seriously damaged.

CUPID INVADES PHILO ONCE MORE

Miss Goldie Gowan and F. H. Ward of Philo were married Sunday at 11 a. m. at the residence of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gowan, by Rev. Schillinger of Boonville. Only the immediate friends and neighbors and relatives were present. The parlor of the Gowan residence had been tastily decorated for the occasion and a bounteous wedding dinner was served after the ceremony.

One of the features of the occasion was the kissing of the groom which was insisted on when the ladies saw their husbands saluting the charming bride. That night the happy couple was properly charivaried, Ralph Brown acting as leader of the tin can orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward will make their home on their ranch near Philo. They were the recipients of numerous handsome and useful presents which testify to their popularity.

Miss Annie Crump and Miss Perle Pemberton and Ernest Gowan of this city went over to attend the wedding.

THE FISTIC CONTEST

Walter Coffey of Santa Rosa and Grover Binkley of this city meet in the roped arena tomorrow night to settle a dispute as to which is the best man in the art of self defense. Both have trained hard and a good contest can be looked forward to by those who journey from far and near to see them meet for the third time. Each having a well earned victory by the knockout route, the sports may expect a hard and gruelling battle. Word comes from Santa Rosa that about fifty of Coffey's admirers will be here to see him go to victory or defeat, while several will be here from Petaluma. A good preliminary between Young Donohoe and a Willits lad will start the ball rolling for a good evening's entertainment.

BULLING THE DOG MARKET

Con Gschwend returned to Christine last week leading a fine string of dogs. Con says that there is a scarcity of dogs in that section and that sausage is an unknown quantity. It seems that sheep men have been after the dogs strong of late. Con said that he was commissioned to get all of the dogs he could and succeeded in getting eight from Walter Ackerman, the sausage man at Smith's butcher shop. He expects to return this week for another consignment and is paying a dollar a head in job lots. The result is that dogs have advanced and that sausage will probably be taken off the hotel bill of fare and there will be no more chicken neck in the tomales.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY

out. We change trains."

After a short skirmish they located their belongings. They would have to be patient.

Among the inspectors at Ventimiglia is a small, wizened Frenchman with a face as cold and impassive as the sand blown sphinx. He possesses, among other accomplishments, a nose peculiar less for its shape than for its smell. He can "smell out" tobacco as a witch doctor in Zululand smells out a "devil." Fate directed this individual toward the Americans. Hillard knew him of old, and he never forgets a face, this wizened little man.

"Monsieur has nothing to declare?" he asked.

Hillard made a negative sign and opened his cases. With scarce a glance at their contents and waving aside the coupons the inspector applied the chalk and turned to Merrihew.

"Monsieur has nothing to declare?" he repeated.

Merrihew shook his head airily. "Niente, niente!" he said in his best Italian. He did not understand what the inspector said. He merely had suspicions.

"Look!" suddenly exclaimed Hillard.

Passing out of the door which led to liberty and to France, their luggage guaranteed by cabalistic chalk marks, were two women. One of them was veiled; the other was not.

"Kitty Killigrew, as I live!" shouted Merrihew, making a dash for the door.

But the inspector blocked the way, beckoned to a gendarme, who came over, and calmly pointed to Merrihew's unopened cases.

"Open!" said the inspector.

"But"-- Merrihew struggled to pass.

"For heaven's sake," cried Hillard, "be patient and open the cases at once."

Merrihew handled his keys clumsily. It is ever thus when one is in a hurry. Finally he threw back the lids, feeling that in another moment he must have spouted Italian or French out of pure magic simply to tell this fool inspector what he thought of him.

"Oho, monsieur in a hurry!" mocked the inspector. "Nothing, nothing!" He took out two boxes of cigars.

"Why the devil didn't you tell me you had them?" Hillard demanded wrathfully. To find the women by this stroke of luck and then to lose them again for two boxes of cigars! It was maddening.

The inspector went through Merrihew's possessions with premeditated leisure. Everything had to come out. He even opened the shaving sets, the collar box, the pin cases and the tie bag.

"Will you hasten?" asked Hillard. "We do not wish to miss this train."

"Others follow," said the inspector laconically.

Hillard produced a five franc piece. The inspector laughed without noise and shook his head. This one inspector is impervious to money or smooth speeches. He is the law personified, inexorable.

Hillard strained his eyes, but saw neither Kitty nor the veiled lady again. Doubtless they were already on the train. Had Merrihew been an old traveler he would have left him to get to Monte Carlo the best way he could, but Merrihew was as helpless as a child, and he hadn't the heart to desert him, though he deserved to be deserted.

Ding-ding! went the bell. Whee-whee! went the whistle. The train for Monte Carlo was drawing out, and they were being left behind. Hillard swore and Merrihew went white with impotent anger. If only he could hit something! The inspector smiled and went on with his deadly work. When he was certain that they could not possibly catch the train he handed the cigars to their owner and pointed to a sign the other side of the barricade.

"What shall I do now, Jack?" Merrihew asked.

"I refuse to help you. Find out yourself."

So Merrihew, hopeless and subdued, went into the room designated, saw the cigars taken out and weighed, took the bill and presented it with a hundred lire note at the little window in the off room.

Procuring his change, he found Hillard sitting disconsolately on the barricade.

"I hope you are perfectly satisfied," said Hillard, with an amiability which wouldn't have passed muster anywhere.

"Oh, I'm satisfied," answered Merrihem. He stuffed his pockets with cigars, slammed the boxes into the case and locked them up.

"I warned you about tobacco."

"I know it."

"You should have told me."

"I know that, too, but I didn't want you to lecture me."

"A lecture would have been better than waiting here in this barn for three hours."

"Three hours?" despondently.

"Oh, there's a restaurant, but it's not much better than this. It's bad—flies and greasy plates."

And by the time they had found the Ristorante Tornaghi – miserable and uninviting– they were laughing.

"Only I wish I knew where they were going," was Hillard's regret.

"They?" said Merrihew.

"Yes. The woman with Kitty is the woman I'm going to find if I stay in Europe ten years. And when I find her I'm going to marry her."

"Sounds good," said Merrihew, pouring himself a third glass of very indifferent Beaune.

"And they may be going anywhere but to Monte Carlo—Paris, Cherbourg, Calais. In my opinion, Monte Carlo is the last place two such women are likely to go to alone."

FRANK M'CRACKEN MOVES TO CHICO

Frank McCracken and wife returned last Saturday from an extended trip over the northern part of the State of Oregon. They were looking for a location and visited the famous Metford apple country but reported that it was no place for a man of ordinary means as land was too high. Unimproved land is worth $600 an acre and land in orchard is worth $1500. Frank says that he was surprised that there were so few old orchards there, but says there are hundreds of acres of young apple trees. They finally decided to locate at Chico and bought a ranch of 160 acres about seven miles from town. He says that it is fine grain land and is well pleased with his purchase. They left this week for their new home and will drive. The freight rate was so high that Frank can make about $20 a day hauling his own freight. Mr. and Mrs. McCracken are enterprising young people and it is with regret that their many friends will hear of their departure, but all will wish them unlimited prosperity in their new home.

DIES SUDDENLY AT TURLOCK

Edwin DeMotte died quite suddenly at Turlock last Friday. He and his wife left Ukiah about two weeks ago and went to Turlock to visit their son and intended to make their home in that part of the state during the winter. He was in the best of health when they left Ukiah and drove his horse from here to Turlock. He had been there about a week when he was stricken wish paralsis and died within a few days. Deceased was about 75 years old and had been a resident of Ukiah for many years. In his early life he was a temperance lecturer and traveled for several years delivering lectures in this state. He was a very quiet, hard working industrious man and his many friends in Ukiah will be pained to learn of his sudden death.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

The ladies of the Baptist church are making elaborate plans to serve a turkey dinner at the Odd Fellows' hall on Thanksgiving day. A splendid menu is being prepared including the Thanksgiving turkey and chicken pie and cranberry sauce, Boston baked beans, brown bread, salads, pumpkin and mince pies and all other good things that go to make a Thanksgiving dinner what it ought to be. What's the use to fret and stew and lose your temper and religion too trying to cook a big dinner when you can save all that by taking the family here and get your dindinner. Special family tables reserved. Dinner fifty cents, children under twelve twenty-five cents. Music during dinner.

MORE KIND WORDS

Editor White of the Ukiah Republican Press has been making some extensive improvements in his plant. The latest is a new Cottrell cylinder press and it is one of the highest priced and best country newspaper presses on the market. He also recently installed a new job press, a newspaper folder, the only one in the county, a new body type and has had his building enlarged. Mr. White can be congratulated on having the best and most up-to-date plant in the county.—Willits Herald.

TAX MONEY COMING IN

There is only one more week before the county taxes become delinquent and as a consequence the tax collector and his deputies are kept busy mailing receipts to out of town property owners who have waited until now to pay their taxes. The payments are being mode far more promptly than they were last year however and now average between 45 and 50 per cent more than last year at this time. Tax Collector Van Dyke says that there is something new to learn every year in his office, and next year he expects to have his work even more conveniently arranged than this year.

Does Not Stimulate

Ayer's Sarsaparilla does not stimulate. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. It is not a strong drink. No reaction after you stop using it. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. You have the steady, even gain that comes from a strong tonic and alterative. We wish you would ask your doctor about this. He knows. Trust him. Do as he says. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

What are Ayer's Pills? Liver Pills. How long have they been sold? Nearly sixty years. Do doctors recommend them? Ask your own doctor and find out.

LARGE STOCK OF ORIENTAL GOODS

A large shipment of Christmas goods were received this week by the Japanese Bazaar and the clerks have been busy unpacking them so that they can get them ready for display in a few days. The goods were shipped direct from the Orient and among them are some odd, yet neat and pretty pieces of art silks, crockery, toys etc. Joe Nakagawa, proprietor of the Bazaar, has made many improvements in his store building and has enlarged the floor space so that he will have room to display all of his new goods. This store always does an exceptionally good business during the holidays, and before has had trouble in getting their goods here on account of ordering them through the San Francisco agency from where nearly all of the stores are supplied. This year, however, Joe decided to have a large stock of Oriental goods for his many patrons, so ordered them direct from Japan and China early in the summer. This shipment has just arrived and others will soon follow, so that he will have the largest stock of this kind of goods ever seen in Ukiah, for the Christmas trade.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES

The number of schollars at the Ukiah Normal is rapidly increasing and scarcely a week passes that some new name is not added to the list. Miss Alethia Smith of Lakeport began school last week and Miss Ruby Cummins of Covelo and Miss Orletta Gowell of Ukiah were enrolled Monday. There are now 19 in the class and F. C. Wells of Branscomb is expected to begin next Monday, making a class of 20 that will take the examination in December. The hard times party given by the class last Saturday night was a decided success and everyone present had a good time. The prizes were awarded to Lloyd Teel and Miss Smith, while Burnham Heryford succeeded in capturing the booby prize. Games were played until a late hour when refreshments were served, after which everyone departed for home voting the Ukiah Normal to be the best ever as entertainers.

MAMMOTH TURNIP IS SENT TO EXHIBIT

A 23 pound turnip, a record breaking specimen, was received at the state board of trade yesterday and caused not a little trouble for Secretary McDonald. While very anxious to preserve it as an illustration of the fact that California leads the world in farm products, he was unable to secure a jar of sufficient dimensions to contain it, and so the huge turnip, which measures 39 inches in circumference, was relegated to the storeroom pending the production of a jar of hitherto unheard of dimensions. The turnip is a Willits product and was grown by George S. Ward.—San Francisco Call.

IN THE MATTER OF LAYING OUT AND LOCATING A SITE FOR A BRIDGE ACROSS ALDER CREEK, AND A ROAD TO AND FROM SAID BRIDGE IN THE FIFTH ROAD DISTRICT MENDOCINO COUNTY

NOTICE.

WHEREAS, THE REPORT OF THE viewers appointed to view out and locate a site for a bridge across Alder Creek in the Fifth Road District in said Mendocino County, and to lay out and view a road to and from said bridge connecting with the old established county road has been filed with the Board of Supervisors of said Mendocino County on the 1st day of November, 1909.

AND, WHEREAS, the time for hearing said report has been fixed by said Board for the 7th day of December, A. D., 1909, at 3 o'clock P. M. and an order made by said Board directing notice of such hearing to be given A. Stornetti and Mrs. B. Antrim, executrix or administratrix of the estate of William Antrim, deceased, by publication thereof in the Republican Press:

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given to the said A. Stornetti and to the said Mrs. B. Antrim, executrix or administratrix of the estate of William Antrim, deceased, that the hearing of the report of said viewers in said matter has been set for the 7th day of December, A. D., 1909, at the hour of 3 o'clock P. M., and you and each of you are hereby notified then and there to appear and show cause, if any you have, why the said report of said viewers should not be accepted and the said road as therein described, and the site for the said bridge be declared to be an open road and laid out as a public highway; and also to show the amount of damages, if any, to which you or either of you will be entitled on account of the laying out of said road and site for said bridge. Said road as laid out and reported by said viewers, will begin at a point on the top of the Denman or Lane hill at the West line of the main public County road near the South East corner of the South East quarter of the North East quarter of Sec. 12 T 13 N R 17 W. M. D. M. and will run thence over the lands of A. Stornetti and across said Alder Creek, and also over the lands belonging to the estate of William Antrim, deceased, in a general southerly or south westerly direction to a point on the west line of the said main public County road in front of or near the old Dave Antrim house. The length of said road, including the bridge is 89.30 chains. The length of said road over the lands of A. Stornetti is about 26.85 chains. The length of said road over the lands of the estate of William Antrim, deceased, is about 62.45 chains.

By order of the Board of Supervisors.

Dated this 3rd day of November, A. D. 1909.

D. H. LAWSON,
Chairman of said Board of Supervisors.
Attest:
HALE McCOWEN,
Clerk of said Board.
[SEAL] By C. H. WHITE, Deputy Clerk.

So they sat in the dingy restaurant, smoking and laughing and grumbling till the next train was announced. At 4 that afternoon they arrived without further mishap at the most interesting station of its size in Europe, Monte Carlo.

And then into the omnibus adjoining came the man with the scar.

* * * * * * *

The Riviera, from San Remo on the Italian side to Cannes on the French, possesses a singular beauty.

Villefranche stands above Nice, between that white city and Monte Carlo. It is quiet and lovely. For this reason the great army of tourists pass it by. There is no casino, no band, no streets full of tantalizing shops. On the very western limit of Villefranche, on the winding white road which rises out of Nice, is a modest little villa, so modest that a ballerina would scorn it and a duchess ignore it.

In the balcony La Signorina reposed in a steamer chair, gazing seaward. The awning cast a warm glow as of gold upon her face and hair, a transparent shadow. She was at this moment the most precious thing upon which the eye may look, a wholly beautiful woman. Kitty Killigrew, standing in the casement window, stared at her silently, not without some envy, not without some awe. What was going on behind those dreamy eyes?

"Hilda?" said Kitty.

"Yes, Kitty."

"Who and what are you?" Kitty asked bravely.

La Signorina's eyes wandered till they met Kitty's.

"And what good would it do you to know? Would it bring money from home any sooner? You already know that I am unhappy. The adventuress always is."

"Adventuress?" Kitty laughed scornfully. "The proprietor pretends he does not know you, but I am certain he does. He forgets himself sometimes in the way he bows to you."

Kitty paused, then asked:

"Won't you tell me what the secret is?"

"How beautiful that white sail looks!"

"You know all about me," went on Kitty stubbornly.

"Because you told me. I never asked you a single question."

"Is it—love?"

"Love!" La Signorina shrugged. "Poor Kitty, you are trying in vain to make a romance out of my life. You should not read so much."

"It is not curiosity," declared Kitty. "It is because I love you and because it makes me sad when I hear you laugh, when I see you beat your hands against the chair as you did just now."

La Signorina turned again in a passion which was as fierce as it was sudden.

"There is a man," she hissed, her eyes dilating. "But I loathe him, I hate him, I abhor him! And were it not wicked to kill he would have been dead long ago. Enough! If you ever ask another question I will leave you."

"I am sorry," said Kitty. "He was false to you and broke your heart."

"No, Kitty, only my pride."

"It is a strange world," mused Kitty. "Let us turn to our affairs. I received a letter today."

"From home?" eagerly.

"I have no home, Kitty. The letter is from a friend in Naples. Mr. Hillard and Mr. Merrihew, friends of yours, are in Italy."

Kitty could scarcely believe her ears. "Where are they? Where are they stopping?"

"That I do not know. But listen. They have started out to find us. When I tell you that Mr. Hillard is the gentleman I dined with that night before we sailed you will understand my reasons for wishing to avoid him. From this time on we must never appear on the streets without our veils. If by chance we meet them we must give no sign. It will be only for a little while. Your letter will come soon, and you may renew your acquaintance with these two gentlemen when you return home. It may be hard for you, but if you wish to stay with me my will must be a law unto you."

"Not to speak to them if we meet them?" urged Kitty in dismay. "But that is cruel of you. They are both gentlemen."

"I do not know Mr. Merrihew, but I can say that Mr. Hillard is a gentleman. As for being cruel, I am not; only selfish."

"Are you not a queen who has run away from a kingdom?" asked Kitty bitterly. "One reads about them every day in the papers."

"My dear, you are free to choose one of two paths. I shall not urge you one way or the other, but you must choose now."

Several minutes passed. Kitty looked out to sea, and La Signorina closed her eyes. In her heart Kitty knew that she could no more leave this woman than she could fly. She was held by curiosity, by sentiment, by the romantic mystery.

"I have chosen," she said at length. "I shall stay with you."

"Thanks, Kitty. And now the affairs of the company. We have played three days and have lost steadily. Tonight will be the last chance. Win or lose, tomorrow we shall return to Venice. I do not like the idea of going to Monte Carlo at night. It is not exactly safe. But since beggars mustn't be choosers we must go. Again I warn you to speak to no one while I am playing and under no circumstances raise your veil. They have begun to notice us, but it will end tonight. I was mad to think that I could win. And, by the way, Kitty, we shall not go back to the Campo Formosa."

Kitty accepted this news brightly. If there was one place she hated it was the Campo.

"Now run and dress," advised La Signorina. "Let me dream a little more while the sun sets."

She knew men tolerably well. After thirty they cease to follow visions—they seek tangible things. No, they must never meet again. It would not be wise. Her heart, galled by disillusion, might not withstand much storming. And she had no wish to add this irretrievable folly to the original blunder. She was afraid.

No; they must go their separate ways till the end. With a sigh she rose and went into the room. Kitty was busy with the finishing touches of her toilet. The older woman kissed her fondly.

"And do you realize that you are the most beautiful woman in the world?" asked Kitty.

"Little flatterer!"

"And if I were a man"—Kitty paused—"I'd fall in love with you and marry you."

La Signorina looked into the mirror.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

NOT THE CALIFORNIA ANGLERS

A few weeks ago in speaking of the fish hatchery controversy the name of the California Anglers association was mentioned. This was an error as the Anglers association has nothing to do with the matter. The people who were endeavoring to get the property were the California Trout Farm association.

JURY SAYS NOT GUILTY

Charles Bickford was found not guilty last week in Judge Wilson's court on a charge of disturbing the peace. Bickford was having a heated argument with a horse in Wagonseller addition when the charge was preferred.

RAILROAD NEWS

The big timbers for the bridge and tunnel work are now arriving here at the rate of several carloads a day and a large force of men and teams haul them down to the Outlet as fast as they arrive. The Northwestern Redwood Co. could not supply all of the timbers and the Union Lumber Co. has the contract for the balance. These timbers are shipped from Fort Bragg to Tiburon by water and then brought up by rail. We understand the Union Lumber Co. has a contract for 450,000 feet and the Northwestern Redwood Co. for 350,000 feet of lumber.

About 1500 feet of tunnel work will be done along Outlet creek this winter. The quarters for the men are being erected and the supplies are being hauled out.

The Willits committee on subscriptions for the Fort Bragg railroad have been busy this week and are meeting with fair success. Everybody seems anxious to have that railroad connect with the Northwestern Pacific in this valley. The subscriptions will be null and void unless the connection is made on or before July 1st 1911.

The winter train schedule took effect on the 15th. The passenger leaves Willits at 12:05 m. for San Francisco, and arrives at 1:55 p. m. The train for Sherwood leaves at 2:30 p. m.—Willits News.

TANBARK JOHNSON FOUND DEAD IN CABIN

John A. Johnson, familiarly known as Tanbark Johnson, was found dead in his bed last Tuesday morning, by Mrs. Perle Marshal, a neighbor who had gone to the old man's cabin to take him some food. Johnson acquired his nickname from his ability as a tanbark peeler in the early days when he was in the employ of the L. E. White Lumber company. He was one of the early settlers of the county and was about eighty years old.

In recent years he had been unable to work and had led the life of a recluse in an old cabin on the Valcandi place at Signal. The neighbors had been kindly and were in the habit of taking in food for the old man. As he had not been seen for several days Mrs. Marshal went over as was her custom to see how the old man was getting along. The neighbors were called and a coroner's inquest held, and the jury decided that the old man had been dead about a week.

The only food found in the house was a loaf of bread and a few apples. A large rock was found at his feet and it is supposed that the old man had heated this by his fire and put it in his bed to keep warm. Frank Cook and a hunting party were at Signal and assisted at the inquest. His only relative is a son who is supposed to be somewhere in the east.

A Home Where Dust is Unknown

is the home that is cleaned with the Santo Vacuum Cleaner. It will keep your home clean in the truest sense, and without raising a particle of dust. You cannot get the dust out of the cracks in the floors and the corners with your dust cloth and broom, no Matter how hard you work. This cleaner takes every particle of dust and dirt from your floors, both from the surface and the cracks. Curtains and draperies accumulate dust and dirt very fast. They can be cleaned with this cleaner without being removed from the hangers. Clean your upholstering, walls, bed-clothing, books, and your entire house in a few minutes with the new

"Santo Vacuum Cleaner"

In design and construction this cleaner is radically different from any similar device before the public. The top and base is made of polished and lacquered aluminum. We are agents for these cleaners for Mendocino County and also have them for rent. Our charges for the use of the cleaner are $3.00 a day or $2.00 for a dalf day. We will send one of our men to show you how to use the cleaner, or we will clean your house for you for $6.00 a day. This cleaner can be used by connecting it with an ordinary electric light socket.
